TASKER SELECTED AS INDIAN COACH

Judge Robert M. Hughes Speaks On Vice-Presidents

As the remedy for the present method of electing presidents and vice-presidents whereby a bare majority of voters in a combination in the larger States always name the successful candidates, Judge Robert M. Hughes, of Norfolk, speaking before the students of William and Mary on "Our Vice-Presidents and Method of Their Election," at the One Hundred and Thirty-third Anniversary Exercises of the birth of John Tyler, and formerly President of the United States, here today proposes that we go back to the plan offered by James Wilson on the fifth day of the Constitutional Convention, and choose the electors by congressional districts, with two from the State at large to represent the senators. "Few States send solid congressional delegations," he said. "In any event," continued the distinguished William and Mary alumnus, "let us hope that nothing will be done to diminish the importance or impair the dignity of the vice-presidential office. On the contrary every effort should be made to elevate it. The vice-president should be paid a decent salary, should be furnished respectable quarters, should take precedence next to the president, should attend cabinet meetings and be kept in close touch with his chief, whose office he may be called to fill on a minute's notice. It is not a place for a figure head; we should always have a Tyler or a Roosevelt in readiness."

After a brief discussion of the method adopted by the Federal Convention in 1787 for the election of the president and vice-president, whereby the electors were to vote for two persons for president, the one receiving the highest vote to be president, and the next highest to be vice-president, showing the idea of its draftsmen to have been that there should be little difference in capacity between the president and the vice-president. Judge Hughes gave a short review of the early occupants of the vice-president's chair, demonstrating their competency until after the passage of the 12th Amendment, which requires the electors to designate the State's preference for president and vice-president and leave the method of their election to the State Legislatures, which culminated in party conventions, making the office an automaton.

Indians Held Tight By Holy Cross Ace

Carrol Fans Twelve and William and Mary Gets Only Two Hits

Owne Carrol, Holy Cross pitching ace, who is said to have received offers from practically every team in the majors, hurled true to form here today, sending twelve Indian batsmen to the dugout via the strike-out route and letting the local sluggers down with only two hits and two runs, while the Purple found Thompson for eight hits, which, interspersed with two errors, a passed ball and several bad breaks for the Indians, netted the visitors seven runs and their second victory over William and Mary in baseball in the past three years. It is interesting to note that Holy Cross won by the same score, 7 to 2, today as they did in 1921, and that the weather for both games was very similar, being cold and slightly cloudy.

Holy Cross started the scoring in the second inning when Riopel drew a base on balls, Walsh was safe and advanced Riopel on a fielder's choice. Both Walsh and Riopel advanced on Glennon's single and scored a moment later on a passed ball; Ryan flew out to first and Glennon counted on Carrol's two-base hit to center. The next two Barrymen were out in order, their total damage for the inning being three runs and enough to win.

The Purple counted once in the third on a triple and a double, once in the fourth on a triple and a sacri-

The Philippine Quartet

A Most Delightful and Unusual Program, April 3, at Williamsburg High School Auditorium

The Philippine Quartet gives a most delightful and unusual program; the Philipino has a music with a charm all its own, and he plays some of this music on instruments that are peculiarly his own. To the program rendered by these new American Citizens are added American stringed instruments which supplement the varied and fascinating entertainment rendered.

Mr. Gragoria Napomuceno, a native Philipino, is manager of this company. This number was highly received by audiences throughout the West during the past year, where it was known as "Napomuceno and his Band." The same personnel will render the program here.

The Philippine Quartet renders a program which will be an enjoyment to all, and in addition all will carry away a better understanding of the Philippine people.

W. & M. Track Team Meets Penn State

Indians to Compete With Cream of Eastern Track Talent Here Wednesday

MANY STARS ON NITTANY SQUAD

Coach Tucker Jones and Manager Ted Dalton are very busy these days getting everything in readiness for the William and Mary-Penn State Track Meet, which will be held at Williamsburg Fair Grounds at 2:30 P. M. next Wednesday. Included in the ranks of the aggregation of cinder path stars that will represent the Pennsylvania institution is Allen Helffrich, National Champion half-miler for two years, making the distance in 1.55.2; H. H. Hile, holder of the college record for 220 low hurdles, time being 24.1; Myron Palm, weight man who was second at the National Collegiates at Chicago in 1922; J. N. Emory, weights and javelin, who holds javelin record of 18 feet and 4 inches; and Captain Kaufman, star high hurdler. There are football stars galore on the Penn State track team.

COACH NATE CARTMELL Penn State

New Director Has Fine Record With Connecticut Aggies

COACHES THREE SPORTS

Succeeds James G. Driver as William and Mary Mentor

J. Wilder Tasker, former Syracuse University star and head coach at Connecticut Agricultural College for the past two years, where he made a splendid record, has been unanimously selected to succeed James G. Driver as head coach of basketball, baseball and football. This position was made vacant by the recent resignation of Coach Driver, according to the announcement of Oscar L. Shewmake, Chairman of the Joint Committee on Athletics, here today. Coach Tasker will take up his duties here April 1, 1923, on which date he will call the football candidates for six weeks' spring training.

Tasker received three years' football training at Syracuse under the famous Jones' brothers, Tad and Howard, the former now being coach of Yale, and the latter, head coach at Iowa, and one year at Union University. He will use a modified Syracuse system of football which will necessitate no such departure from the system already in vogue at William and Mary as to be detrimental to the success of the team. Before entering the coaching field, Tasker supplemented his collegiate athletic training by five years of successful professional playing in baseball, football and basketball. He is recognized as one of the best all-round athletes ever developed at Syracuse. His coaching success at Connecticut Agricultural College was a little short of phenomenal. The New England sports writers are especially high in their praise of Tasker's "knack of developing green material into first class players in all sports," as Lewis Carr, Coach of Baseball at Syracuse, puts it. Tasker's record for his two years at Connecticut State speaks for itself.

Tasker went to Connecticut State in 1921 where he had only 180 boys from which to build his teams, a large part of the students being Federal Board men who were unable to participate in athletics. Of the 180 students, a majority came from small high schools and had received little coaching before coming to college.

Dr. Chandler Regrets Driver's Resignation

"I am surprised at Coach Driver's resignation and deeply regret it," said Dr. Chandler, when interviewed last week. I have been associated with him at this College for four years and regard him as a man of the highest ideals and a fine coach. It is a pity that we are losing a man who has contributed so much to the athletic success of the institution."

The announcement of Coach Driver's resignation came at a time when a majority of the students were going away for the spring holidays, and those still at College decided that the drawing up of resolutions of regret and appreciation of services should be postponed until sometime this week. No comment could be elicited from Coach Driver or from the Athletic Committee concerning the resignation.

Coach Driver came to William and Mary at a time when athletics were at a low ebb, the Indians' prestige being a little higher than that of several preparatory schools in the State. Since that time the College's standing has greatly improved. William and Mary is today considered by many experts to be in the very front rank among the smaller institutions in Virginia and North Carolina.

Four years ago no one here would have dreamed of William and Mary having an opportunity to meet Harvard in athletic competition. Yet these two old colleges are to cross bats this season in baseball, while Syracuse and the Naval Academy are on the Indians' football schedule for next fall.

Keep Off the Grass Plots

City Council Issues Warning

The City Council of the City of Williamsburg desires through the Flat Hat to call the attention of the students to the city ordinance forbidding the crossing of grass plots in the center of Duke of Gloucester Street, except at the crossings designated by chalk lines, under penalty of fine.

The ordinance, which was passed last year to prevent indiscriminate crossing and the consequent marring of the grass plots and which has since been disregarded, particularly by the college students, will now be rigidly enforced, and any offender may expect to be haled before Mayor Henderson and fined accordingly.

Track Meet For Small High Schools To Be Held Here

Will be Under Auspices of De- partment of Physical Education

The First Annual District Meet of County Championship Teams in Field and Track Games, in which all the smaller high schools of Eastern Virginia have been invited to participate, is to be held here under the auspices of the Department of Physical Education on Friday, April 27.

Similar meets are to be held for the different sections of the State at the college or university to which they are most accessible.

Under the rules of the contest, the meet will be open to all accredited rural high schools, with a boys' enrollment of less than fifty, in the counties of Charles City, James City, York, Warwick, Elizabeth City, Gloucester, Mathews, Northampton, Accomac, Norfolk, Nansemond, Princess Anne, Isle of Wight, Southampton, and Surry.

The names of the contestants, together with the name of the high school in which they are enrolled and the event in which they are entered, should be in the hands of Mr. L. Tucker Jones, Director of Physical Education, College of William and Mary, by April 24. Any additional information desired by the high schools may be secured from Coach Jones.

The meet will begin at 1 P. M., following which the contestants will be guests of the Indians at the William and Mary-Randolph-Macon baseball game that afternoon. In addition, Coach Tucker Jones plans to have some exhibition events by the Indian track squad for the instruction of the high school boys.

The district meet at William and Mary is to be made an annual event with the high schools of this section of the State; and in addition, tournaments in basketball will also be held.

BOTH SOCIETIES TO INSTALL OFFICERS

The Phoenix and Philomathean Literary Societies at their regular meetings tomorrow night will install their officers for the spring quarter. All members are especially asked to be present.

No Argument

A man stepped up to Henry Ward Beecher one day and said, "Sir, I am an evolutionist, and I want to discuss the question with you. I am also an annihilationist; I believe that when I die that will be the end of me."

"Thank goodness for that!" said Mr. Beecher, as he walked off and left the man dazed.

Two Homers Are Only Runs Scored During the Game

Fine Pitching of Saffelle and Stellar Work of Indian Infield Feature of Contest

The William and Mary baseball nine opened its 1923 season here with a 2 to 0 victory over Union Theological Seminary. The light hitting of both teams, the Indians contributing three and the Theologians two, was probably due to the fact that they were facing curve balls for the first time this season. Both fielded well.

The features of the contest were home runs by Ferdie Chandler and Bob Saffelle, and the able pitching of Saffelle and Alexander from the Indian point of view; the excellent hurling and all-round playing of Saffelle, a freshman and product of Alexander High, was the most pleasing element of the contest.

Saffelle, a lanky right hander, has a slow deceptive delivery, a fine assortment of curves and no little speed. He shows every indication of becoming a first class college pitcher. With a team composed almost entirely of veterans, the one worry of Coach Driver is the pitching department, Curt Thompson being the only regular hurler of last year's nine to return. Should Saffelle and Cox continue their present progress, the Indians can be expected to win the majority of the games on their ambitious 1923 schedule.

The William and Mary infield is reckoned by many sport writers to be the class of the State.

Summary:

William and Mary De- feats Country Club

The Indian rackets, meeting the Country Club of Virginia Team in Richmond last Saturday, returned as winners in the contest by five matches to three.

The Indians showed considerable improvement since their last appearance in Richmond, when the Country Club won. The winning of their hardest match so early in the season, should serve as a prediction for the William and Mary players of a more successful season that last year.

For William and Mary the outstanding stars in the match were Cline and Wilshin, both returning victors by healthy margins in singles and doubles. For the Country Club, Archie Cary played well, winning two matches. Wilshin and Pollard, of William and Mary, outplayed Rice and Dabney, of the Country Club, in a well-played double match. Dr. Rowe, of the faculty, also made a fine showing for William and Mary.

Following the match, Coach Raymond Troth, of the Country Club, gave the Indian players several useful hints and suggestions which were greatly appreciated and of which they expect to make immediate use.

The scores follow:

Singles—Dr. Rowe, William and Mary, defeated H. E. Beckel, Country Club, 2-6, 6-3, 7-5.

A. Cary, Country Club, defeated Professor Counselman, William and Mary, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Albert Pollard, Country Club, defeated J. G. Pollard, Jr., William and Mary, 7-5, 8-6.

HERE AND THERE

PITCHERS SAFFELLE AND COX COME TO FORE

The Union Theological game very surprisingly resolved itself into a pitchers' battle, with Saffelle and Cox having the better of the argument. The light hitting of the local team is accounted for in part by the fact that the Indians were batting curved balls for the first time this season.

The showing made by Saffelle, a product of George Mason High School, and by Cox, who has improved wonderfully since last year with a season of summer baseball, was in all ways gratifying. If these boys keep up their good work on the trip to the seaside tomorrow, when the Indians encounter New York University, Amherst, and Penn State on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday at Norfolk, Newport News and Norfolk, respectively, we should have no fear on account of our supply of relief pitchers.

Saffelle is reputed to be a heavy hitter, a report which was sustained somewhat by his home-run clout in the U. T. S. game. The battery, by the way, won its own game—Ferdie Chandler, catcher, also made a home-run, accounting for the other tally in the Indians' score.

TENNIS TEAM SURPRISES COUNTRY CLUB

The Tennis Team is to be congratulated on their victory over the Country Club rackets, the latter composed of an aggregation which has rarely tasted defeat at the hands of a collegiate team, Yale and William and Mary being among the exceptions. The winning of this match in some measure makes up for last year's defeat, and should indicate a much stronger team than that which last year took second place in the Middle Atlantic Tournament. First place alone should satisfy this year's team, many of whom, incidentally, will graduate from College in June.

MORE TRACK MEN NEEDED

The indifference of some men in College, with evident track ability, to Coach Tucker Jones' call for track men, is in many ways disappointing. Men who possess the ability, whether experienced or not, owe it to themselves as well as to the College to come out for track practice. It is the student's part to offer his services; Coach Jones will gladly accept the responsibility as to the results. The most ambitious track schedule in the annals of the College has been arranged; and if William and Mary is to make her best possible showing, it must be with the aid of all the track material in College.

INDIANS SHOULD PLACE AGAINST PENN STATE TRACKMEN

The Indians will hold their first, as well as their hardest, intercollegiate track meet here next Wednesday when they meet Penn State, whose team is one of the strongest in the East and includes a number of national and international record-holders. The Indian trackmen should at least win a number of second and third places, and possibly one or two first places, as only eighteen men are being brought with the Penn State team. The booking of this meet bespeaks much for the rapid strides William and Mary has recently made in track, and should renew the emphasis to be laid on this branch of sport. The individual members of the William and Mary team should also seize the opportunity to secure considerable instruction from the Penn State artists.

Now that you have returned after celebrating the holidays, the days of work have begun. The time has come for you to begin working for yourself and for Alma Mater. Do not be so thoughtless as to forget that the $10,000 Drive for a New Gym is just beginning. It is the time for all good students to come to the aid of their Alma Mater. We cannot believe that there is a single student in College with soul so dead who to himself hath not already said, "This is my College, my own Alma Mater." It is for the present student body to lay at the shrine of old William and Mary, memorials wrought from the sacrifices of the students, who love and adore this venerable shrine of learning. There is no student, who walks in the footsteps of our illustrious alumni, who can, without an irretrievable insult to himself and to his College, refuse to raise his quota for the Gym Fund, $15.

"Expenses, cut them in half," should be your motto for the next two months. Practise self-sacrifice, following the teachings of Men among Men, whose remembrance we now hold sacred and dear.

RESIGNATION OF COACH DRIVER

The Flat Hat takes this opportunity to express through its columns the regret to hear of Coach James G. Driver's resignation and severance of his connections with the athletics at the College. His resignation comes as a shock to the student body, as he has built and fostered the present athletic system at this College since his acceptance as coach in 1918. He has placed athletics of this Institution on the high level on which they stand today. Driver has maintained and built such a standard of athletics here that this College is recognized by the big universities and colleges of the East. He is responsible for the schedule this year, having engaged Delaware, Syracuse and the Naval Academy in football for the next season, and has scheduled the present season's games with Harvard, Amherst, Holy Cross and other large universities. In short, the present standard and system of athletics here is Jim Driver's system. He has made athletics at William and Mary what they are, and to him we are glad to extend our appreciation for his labors while Athletic Director and Coach at William and Mary.

We cannot but feel that a great injustice was done to the College and to Driver when the Peninsula Alumni took the action they did in denouncing Driver as incompetent to coach athletics at this College. They have forgotten to give credit and honor to one whom honor and credit is due. It was for the love of old William and Mary that Jim Driver accepted the position as year-round coach and not for pecuniary gains.

Williamsburg Public Library

Faith, hope and charity are the only supports of the Williamsburg Public Library, declared Miss Annie T. Chapman, one of the faithful and hopeful library workers, in a recent interview.

Miss Chapman said that the rent for the library is paid by the Educational and Civic Association, and the rest of the income is from fines, rentals on "pay books," gifts of books and money.

Like similar institutions, the Williamsburg Public Library had a small beginning and an enormous amount of indifference to be combated. People showed little interest, seeming to feel that anything which was free could not amount to very much.

The very beginning was a small "loan library" of about fifty volumes, which was sent out by the Virginia

State Library and was kept at the home of Mrs. George P. Coleman. The first large addition was the purchase of the library of the late Mr. Percival Bisland, of Carter's Grove, which collection was later increased by a gift from Mr. Bisland's sister, Mrs. Wetmore, which became known as the "Percival Bisland Memorial Collection." Mrs. Wetmore, herself an author, has always been a friend to the library.

A great many books were obtained from the hostess house at Camp Lee when it was closed at the end of the war. Other small donations and such purchases as were possible, have created a library of about three thousand volumes, a most creditable collection for a library in a town the size of Williamsburg.

Miss Chapman told the story of one friend of the library who boarded the train for Newport News with two great baskets of daffodils to be sold for the library fund. On the same train was Irvin Cobb, who became so interested in the story of the daffodils that he not only paid a dollar for one flower, but said that he would like to send some books as well. Subsequently Mr. Cobb proved himself as good as his word.

At another time Owen Wister visited the library, inquired about several books which happened not to be on the shelves, and promptly sent the missing volumes and others.

No attempt is made to maintain a library of anything but fiction and juvenile books, although if more serious works are donated they are gladly accepted. The few calls which come for books of the latter type are referred to the William and Mary Library.

For the past few years, the Williamsburg Library has sent collections of books to the various rural communities nearby, usually to the schools. These collections did in a small way what the State Library does with its loan collections. The interest shown by the communities served was very gratifying, and in several cases they have now established their own permanent libraries.

An old negro woman stood by the grave of her husband and said mournfully, "Po' Rastus! I hope he is gone where I 'spec he ain't."

Coach Driver To Leave W. & M.

Tenders Resignation as Athletic Director — Committee Ex- presses Regret

James G. Driver, Athletic Director at William and Mary for the past four years, will sever his connection with this Institution next September. He tendered his resignation to the committee on athletics and that body accepted it with expressions of regret and appreciation. Captain Driver declined to comment on his resignation. He will complete the season as baseball coach.

Driver served as Athletic Director and head coach in 1918-20. During the past two seasons he has not been giving his attention to football. Following Ingram's decision not to return to William and Mary when the athletic authorities decided to re-establish the year-round coaching system, Driver was unanimously re-elected athletic director and was, in addition, charged with the duties of head coach in football, baseball and basketball.

Driver is a William and Mary man, belonging to the class of 1910.

He was 1909-10 captain of the teams in football, baseball, basketball and track, a record achievement. He later starred as an athlete at the University of Virginia.

Resolution Adopted

Following are the resolutions adopted by the committee on athletics, Professor Oscar L. Shewmake, Chairman, in formal acceptance of Coach Driver's resignation:

"Whereas: The committee on athletics of the College of William and Mary, in Virginia, on March 3, 1923, elected Captain James G. Driver to the position of athletic director of the said College for the year commencing September 1, 1923, with the understanding that in addition to the other duties of the said position, he would act as head coach of the football, basketball and baseball teams, such election being unanimous; and,

"Whereas, The said Captain James G. Driver has on this the 20th day of March, 1923, tendered his resignation of the said position,

"Now, Therefore, be it resolved: That this committee accept the resignation so tendered with genuine regret, realizing that by the severance of Captain Driver's relations with the College, the services of an efficient director of athletics, a faithful officer and a high minded gentleman are lost to the institution, and,

"Be it further resolved, That it is the sense of this committee that during the four years of Captain Driver's service in the position mentioned he has rendered splendid service in the development of the athletic life of the College, in the cultivation among the students of a love of clean sport and in the building of manly characters; and that this committee takes this opportunity to express the high degree of confidence it feels in his ability as a coach and director of athletics, his helpful influence on the lives of those with whom he comes in contact, and his unwavering loyalty to the College of William and Mary."

All of the members of the athletic committee were present at the meeting and unanimously adopted the foregoing resolutions.

STATE ORATORICAL CONTEST TO BE HELD AT W. & L.

TO BE FIRST FRIDAY IN MAY

The Virginia Intercollegiate Ora-

torical Association will hold its annual contest in Lexington this year under the auspices of Washington and Lee. It will take place on the first Friday in May and the following colleges will be represented: University of Virginia, Emory and Henry, Randolph-Macon, William and Mary, University of Richmond, Roanoke College, Lynchburg College and Washington and Lee. A handsome medal valued at $50 will be awarded to the winner of the contest.

Preliminaries to determine who will represent William and Mary in this contest will probably be held within three weeks. All those who have forensic ability are urged to come out.

Famous Alumni of William and Mary

GEORGE WYTHER

George Wythe, called by Thomas Jefferson "the Cato of His Country," was the first professor of law in America, having held this chair at the College of William and Mary.

Born in 1726 near Yorktown, he entered the House of Burgesses in 1752, on the eve of the French and Indian Wars, hence he was well acquainted with all the steps leading up to the Revolution. As early as 1764 he wrote Virginia's first remonstrance to the House of Commons about the Stamp Act.

Wythe was an influential member of the Continental Congress, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and instrumental in securing the ratification of the Virginia Constitution. He was for ten years a member of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals, and for twenty years sole chancellor of the State. He was, perhaps, the first judge to lay down, in 1782, the cardinal principle that a statute law in conflict with the constitution is null and void, thus anticipating by a score of years a classic decision of his great pupil, Chief Justice Marshall.

Not altogether as a judge, lawyer, and jurist, do we remember him, but as an educator. So highly did Jefferson, another of his distinguished pupils, prize the work of Wythe as a teacher that he exerted himself to establish a chair of law "expressly for his master and his friend" in 1779 at the College of William and Mary. William and Mary is second in the English speaking world to have a chair of Municipal Law.

Chief among Wythe's works is "Decisions in Virginia by the High Court of Chancery."

Spring Festival April 3

The Education and Civic Association is engaged in elaborate preparations for a Spring Festival which will be held at the Colonial Inn Tuesday, April 3. A small admission fee to the festival will be charged and the proceeds will be used for the benefit of the public library.

Music for this occasion will be furnished by the Williamsburg band. This organization is young and has not yet made a formal debut in society, but it is known to be sufficiently developed in the musical art to afford good entertainment.

Besides the band music, there will be varied attractions. One charming young lady, for a small consideration, will hold your hand and tell you all about your past, present and future. She will even tell you whether your best girl keeps company with another fellow when you happen to be away from home, and this is certainly something worth knowing. Other beautiful ladies will sell pretty flowers; others—all beautiful ladies—will offer you delicious candies, cakes and various kinds of food.

Everyone is invited to attend this festival, and all are urged to bring along a little loose change to help swell the library fund.

The All-Southern team picked by six Atlanta sport writers after the final game last Saturday night consist of the following men: Gatchell, Mississippi Aggies, and Roane, Ga. Tech, guards; Redd, U. of Chattanooga, center; Smith, Mercer, and Perkins, Mississippi Aggies were selected as forwards. This makes the second consecutive year that Redd has made the mythical team, and he is considered to be the best player that has ever played in a Southern tournament. He is captain, manager, coach and all round player for his team.

Georgia Tech will hold its first annual Intercollegiate Carnival at Atlanta, April 28. Invitations have been issued to seventy-one colleges and over a hundred preparatory schools throughout the South. The event will be modeled after those held at the University of Pennsylvania.

Randolph-Macon College won the unanimous decision of the judges in a debate with Roanoke College Friday, March 2, debating the affirmative of the question, Resolved: That a bonus measure providing for reasonable compensation to World War veterans should be framed along the lines of the defeated bill, and passed without undue delay.

—The Yellow Jacket.

The student body of Hood College recently voted to inaugurate the custom of silent prayer during the five minutes intervening between the first bell for chapel and the opening of the morning devotional service. This custom is observed in many other institutions and is a very fitting and beautiful one.

fice, and twice in the fifth inning on a safety, an error, base on balls, sacrifice, safety, fielder's choice and a single.

The Indians scored once in the opener on a base on balls to J. Chandler, who stole second and tallied on White's single, and again in the third on a base on balls, an error, a fielder's choice and a passed ball. Both the Indians and the Purple team were a little off color in their fielding.

The feature of the game was the excellent pitching of Carrol and the beautiful catches of difficult chances by Gautreau, White and F. Chandler.

The following men are in a class by themselves in their events: V. K. Heckel, high jumper; Ed. Trice, pole vaulter; Frank Carter, quarter and half; S. Enck, mile; James Russell, broad jump; J. R. Edgerton, half and mile; Jay McMahon, weights; Ed Sayers and W. G. Wiand, sprinters; S. A. Horton, two mile, and Ted Artlet, javelin.

While the Indian team cannot hope to win from the superior Penn State team, or even hold it to a close score, Coach Jones' men should take a number of second and third places. "Tighty" Moore, who has been getting 175 feet in the javelin and weight throws in face of little or no opposition, should give Emory a close fight for first honors in that event. Captain "Scrap" Chandler will give Helfrich a good battle in the half mile; Helfrich made his record, 1.55.2, on an indoor track while Chandler has made the half mile on a dirt track in a fraction over 2 minutes. In any event those two ought to furnish a beautiful race. When "Doc" Rangeley stacks up against "Tiny" McMahon in the shot put, it will be a battle of Titans. Both Rangeley and McMahon have made enviable records on the gridiron.

Hoeff, Spraker, Charles and Shields,

CAPTAIN KAUFFMAN
Penn State Star

sprinters, can be expected to place in some of the dash events.

A probable list of the William and Mary entries and the events in which they will enter follows: Capt. Chandler, half and mile; Moore, javelin, discus and broad jump; Buck Young, pole vault and broad jump; Hancock, 440; Hoeff, 100 and 220; Shields, 100 and 220; Charles, high and low hurdles, broad jump, 100 and 220; Wells, half mile; Winder, low hurdles and 440; Chen, low hurdles; Lash, Wesson, and Durham, high jump; Daly, mile; Van Lear and Brown, two mile; Hastings, pole vault and broad jump; Rangeley and Todd, weights; and Peterson, pole vault.

The meet will start promptly at 2:30 P. M. The weight events will come first, followed by the sprints. All students are asked to co-operate with the managers to make the attraction a successful one.

"The Legislatures of the large States, in order to give their States the greatest influence," continued the speaker, "chose the electors themselves, or provided that they should be chosen by a majority vote, thus casting the State electoral vote solidly—no matter how small the majority by which they were chosen—and denying any representation to the minority. This makes it possible for a combination of the larger States to control the presidency." In support of his contention that these combinations have often been used to the detriment of the smaller States, Judge Hughes said, "Of the twenty-five presidents that have been elected president since our organization under the Constitution, counting Harrison, of Indiana and New Jersey as coming from the larger States, twenty have come from the larger States, including every president since Grant. Of the twenty-nine elected as vice-presidents, twenty-two came from the more populous States."

Yet, according to the Springfield Union, "Tasker, with green material, developed team work which was the outstanding feature of the Aggies' games. The team lost but two games and Tasker's work in getting results from such material brought him praise." With the failure to return of most of his veterans giving places to seven freshmen in the regular line-up for the 1922 season, Tasker's charges defeated Trinity (Conn.), gridiron warriors by a 26 to 6 score and for the first Connecticut State victory over Trinity in twenty-five years and in the history of the school. Although losing several stars because of injuries and having none to replace them with, the Taskerites held to close scores every opponent, among whom were such large schools as University of Maine, Tufts, Springfield College and New Hampshire State.

In basketball Tasker's teams have had wonderful successes. In 1922, Connecticut State five won from Harvard, West Point, Brown, Tufts, Rhode Island, Mass., Aggies, N. H. State, Maine, Trinity, Worcester Tech., and Springfield College; losing only to Springfield, Wesleyan and Mass. Aggies. The Connecticut Aggies were the only team to win from Harvard on the latter's floor that year and excepting University of Penn. the only team to win from the Army in '22. Tasker had on his five Alexander, who, under the Syracuse star's tutelage, made All New England forward.

For the season just closed, the Aggies had difficulty in scheduling games with several colleges who apparently desired to stay away from the fast moving Taskerites. As the result the Aggies played only sixteen games of which they won eleven, losing five during the last few weeks of the season after Alexander and another had been lost to the Nutmeggers on account of injuries.

In baseball, Tasker had more than a fair season at Connecticut State, his nine breaking about even with a schedule which included teams for the most part, far above the class of the Aggies. Brundage, a senior and captain of this year's Connecticut nine, will go with Connie Mack's Athletics in June after his graduation. Brundage owes his development in large part to Tasker's efforts.

Women's Rights On Tennis Courts

Four of the eight tennis courts on the campus have been reserved for women students. These are the four courts directly back of the men's gymnasium.

The Co-eds say that they do not object to men playing on these four courts provided they do not do so at the expense of the women. In the future they expect the men playing on these courts to vacate, without being asked to do so, in case some of the women players want to use them.

MONDAY and TUESDAY

The Palace management offers a departure from its usual programme when on Monday and Tuesday an entire evening of humorous entertainment will be given—in addition to the usual one reel "curtain-raiser," Harold Lloyd, the inimitable comedian, will be seen in "Grandma's Boy," one of his latest five reel comedys.

WEDNESDAY

"I have seen wicked men and fools, many of both, and I believe that both get paid in the end—but the FOOLS FIRST!" Thus wrote Robert Louis Stevenson; and it is around this brief theme that the new Marshall Neilan production, "Fools First," is woven. The cast includes, among other real favorites, Claire Windsor, Richard Dix and Claude Gillingwater.

THURSDAY and FRIDAY

"Over the Hill," is the title of the second picture to run for two days next week at the Palace, when this immortal drama of mother love will be exhibited. This masterpiece of cinematographic production has a cast made up entirely of well-known stars, including Mary Carr, who plays the part of the mother and portrays vividly a mother's faith in her erring children. Pathos forms the soul of the picture. In addition a comedy is included,

SATURDAY

Charlie Jones, the well-known "Sheik" of western pictures, will be seen Saturday in "Boss of Camp 4," a stirring action picture in which this breezy star easily outdoes the gripping scenes of his former production. A comedy is the added attraction.

The Co-eds say that they do not object to men playing on these four courts provided they do not do so at the expense of the women. In the future they expect the men playing on these courts to vacate, without being asked to do so, in case some of the women players want to use them.

Pictures At Palace Theatre This Week

4:00, 7:30 and 9:00 O'clock

MONDAY and TUESDAY

The Palace management offers a departure from its usual programme when on Monday and Tuesday an entire evening of humorous entertainment will be given—in addition to the usual one reel "curtain-raiser," Harold Lloyd, the inimitable comedian, will be seen in "Grandma's Boy," one of his latest five reel comedys.

WEDNESDAY

"I have seen wicked men and fools, many of both, and I believe that both get paid in the end—but the FOOLS FIRST!" Thus wrote Robert Louis Stevenson; and it is around this brief theme that the new Marshall Neilan production, "Fools First," is woven. The cast includes, among other real favorites, Claire Windsor, Richard Dix and Claude Gillingwater.

THURSDAY and FRIDAY

"Over the Hill," is the title of the second picture to run for two days next week at the Palace, when this immortal drama of mother love will be exhibited. This masterpiece of cinematographic production has a cast made up entirely of well-known stars, including Mary Carr, who plays the part of the mother and portrays vividly a mother's faith in her erring children. Pathos forms the soul of the picture. In addition a comedy is included,

SATURDAY

Charlie Jones, the well-known "Sheik" of western pictures, will be seen Saturday in "Boss of Camp 4," a stirring action picture in which this breezy star easily outdoes the gripping scenes of his former production. A comedy is the added attraction.
